

PEARY SAILING SOUTH; RECORDS OF DASH FOR POLE

No Definite News Until Tomorrow Morning Is Expected From Commander Or His Party Of Explorers.

FOUND NORTH POLE APRIL 6, 1909

Dr. Cook Explains Why His And Peary's Paths Did Not Cross On Their Return Voyages--Flag Is Now Centrally Flying At Latitude Ninety.

(By Associated Press.)
St. John, N. F., Sept. 7.—The Peary Arctic expedition left Indian Harbor, Labrador, today for the southward. She will touch at Battle Harbor, N. F., Sept. 20th.

Official Notice.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—Through Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic club, the formal official notification of Peary's achievement in reaching the pole was made known to the government today.

THE HAPPIEST AND PROUDEST WOMAN IN THE WORLD TODAY
Mrs. Frederick Cook, Wife of the King of Polar Exploration.

him until he reaches Chateau Bay, day, Labrador, tonight or tomorrow.

Cook's Idea
Copenhagen, Sept. 7.—By going much further east than I did Peary has cut out of the unknown an enormous space, which of course will be useful and scientifically interesting.

These were the words of Dr. Cook today when shown dispatches confirming Peary's success.

Dr. Cook said Com. Peary would not have crossed his tracks. Dr.

Mr. Bridgman sent a despatch to the secretary of the navy in which he says that Peary telegraphed from Indian Harbor, Labrador, as follows:

"North pole reached April 6th by the Peary Arctic club expedition under my command."

Claims First Honors.
London, Sept. 7.—The Reuter Telegram company publishes a despatch from St. John, N. F., in which it is said that Peary claims he was the first man to reach the pole.

Bartlett's Telegram.
New York, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Captain R. A. Bartlett of the "Thetis" has telegraphed to a friend in this city from Indian Harbor:

"It is accomplished. Kind regards to all."

Receives Word.
Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 7.—Henry G. Bryant, president of the Geographical Society of Philadelphia, this morning received a message from Peary assuring him he had discovered the Sketch of Commander Peary.

Robert E. Peary was born at Cresson, Pa., May 6, 1856. Instructed first in private schools, he subsequently entered Bowdoin college, from which he was graduated with the class of 1877. As a means of livelihood he adopted the profession of civil engineer, entering the United States navy in that capacity, October 20, 1881. Three years later he was appointed an assistant engineer on the board which surveyed the route of the Nicaragua ship canal.

In 1888, two years after the return from his first visit to Greenland, he married Miss Josephine Dabbs, who, from the day of their union has given him the most faithful sympathy and cooperation. In fact, Mrs. Peary has upon different occasions accompanied her husband for a considerable distance northward and upon one of these trips a daughter was born to them. This child has always been called by her father "The Snow Maiden." In 1902, after Peary had been absent four years and hope of his survival had been abandoned by many, Mrs. Peary accompanied a relief expedition which met and brought him home.

PEARY INFORMS HIS WIFE.

South Harpswell, Me., Sept. 7.—Commander Robert E. Peary announced his success in discovering the north pole to his wife, who is summering at Eagle Island here, as follows: "Indian Harbor, via Cape Ray, Sept. 6, 1909.—Mrs. R. E. Peary, South Harpswell, Me.—Have made good at last. I have the old pole. Am well. Love. Will wire again from Chateau."

"BERT." PEARY'S CIPHER MESSAGE.

New York, Sept. 7.—A telegram was received here for Herbert L. Bridgman, secretary of the Peary Arctic Club of America. It read as follows: "Herbert L. Bridgman, Brooklyn, N. Y.—Pole reached. Roosevelt safe."

"PEARY."
The telegram to Mr. Bridgman was sent in cipher, and the cipher used was a private one, indicating clearly that the dispatch was sent by Commander Peary.

NOTIFIES ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, Sept. 7.—The following dispatch was received here yesterday:

"Indian Harbor (via Cape Ray), N. F., Sept. 6.—To Associated Press, New York—Stars and Stripes nailed to north pole."

"PEARY."

MILLAN SENDS WORD.

Freeport, Me., Sept. 7.—Confirmation of Peary's success was received here in a telegram from D. B. McMillan, who accompanied Peary. The message, sent to McMillan's sister, Mrs. W. C. Fogg, the local postmistress, follows:

"Indian Harbor, Sept. 6.—Mrs. W. C. Fogg, Freeport, Me.—Arrived safe. Pole on board. Best year of my life."

The lure of the pole has rewarded the latest and most daring of those who have yielded to the desire for Arctic exploration, and to an American belongs the glory of reaching that hitherto unattainable geographical point, the north pole.

For four hundred years science and adventure have thrown themselves vainly against the ice barriers, and the few flows which prevented them from attaining their object, and the Arctic seas are strewn with the wrecks of the vessels and the howling ice plains are covered with the bodies of the men sacrificed in the quest.

The search for the north pole at the earliest recorded periods appears to be mingled with an attempt to solve the northwest passage in the interest of commerce. In fact, down to Sir John Franklin's day that seemed to be the chief object of these adventurous navigators.

THIRTY-TWO YEARS BEHIND THE BARS

Jesse Pomeroy, the Most Notorious Life Prisoner in America, Still Hopes for a Pardon.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 7.—Jesse Pomeroy, who is known as the most notorious life prisoner in America, today began the thirty-third year of his confinement in the state prison in Charlestown. When he was fourteen years old Pomeroy was sentenced to solitary confinement for life for torturing and murdering little children. Since the gates of the prison closed behind him thirty-two years ago he has seen no human face except that of his mother, who has been permitted to visit him at rare intervals. Even his food has been passed to him by confined to a small corridor set aside for his exclusive use. He has never required the attendance of a physician during his long confinement, nor has he ever requested to see the prison chaplain. Despite his long incarceration, Pomeroy is said to still have hopes of a pardon, though he has never been given the slightest encouragement.

WAR IS PREDICTED BY ENGLISHMEN ON A TOUR OF CANADA

Lord Northcliffe Claims That Germany is Making Preparations.

(By Associated Press.)
Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 7.—Lord Northcliffe, owner of the London Times, in an interview here today predicted a war between Germany and Great Britain. He said in the Krupp gun works alone 100,000 men are working day and night and Sundays preparing for the war. His conviction is that war can only be averted by most complete and thorough preparations on the side of Great Britain.

SPANISH WAR VETS NAT'L ENCAMPMENT

Big Attendance of Soldiers and Sailors Promised for Sixth Annual Gathering at Tacoma.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 7.—Soldiers and sailors who served in the army and navy of the United States during the Spanish-American war are gathering in Tacoma in large numbers in readiness for the opening tomorrow of the sixth national encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans. In honor of the visitors the city is elaborately decorated and numerous features of entertainment have been prepared. This afternoon the national council of administration met at the encampment headquarters at the Tacoma hotel to complete the final details of the program. The opening session tomorrow will be purely routine, consisting of welcomes and responses, annual reports and encampment organization. Wednesday the great parade, the feature of the encampment program, will be held. Contests for national officers and for the next place of meeting are already occupying the attention of the delegates. A strong campaign is being waged to elect Colonel Edward J. Gibson of Massachusetts to the office of commander-in-chief.

VICE PROBE IS ON IN CHICAGO

SENSATIONS DUE IN McCANN & GRIFFIN TRIALS.

MILLION A YEAR GRAFT

In Bribes And Blood Money Will Figure in the Startling Revelations That Are Promised. (Special to the Gazette.)

What is said to be a reliable estimate of the annual tribute paid for political and police protection by the gambling and disorderly element residing in one police division in Chicago places the amount at over $500,000, apportioned as follows:
From hotels of questionable repute, $65,000
From transient furnished rooms, 25,000
From massage parlors—women operators, 7,500
From handbooks, 30,000
From Chinese gamblers, 12,500
From operation of poker tables, 45,000
From disorderly resorts, 250,000
From criminals—bonds and protection, 10,000
From concert saloons, 70,000
Total, $515,500

Chicago, Sept. 7.—What is declared to be the greatest vice probe ever instituted in any American city since the famous Lowry investigation in New York is expected to come to a head in the trials of Police Inspector Edward McCann and Detective Jeremiah Griffin, which were called in the criminal court today. Astounding revelations concerning the extent to which tribute is alleged to be paid in Chicago for political and police protection by the gambling, hotel and disorderly element, are promised by those behind the prosecution of the police officials. This graft on the part of the police officials is declared to exceed $1,000,000 a year and evidence is said to be at hand to prove conclusively that the "blood money" is shared among prominent city politicians.

Inspector McCann is charged with accepting bribes for the "protection" of certain illegal establishments on the west side, in which division of the city he was in command of the police department. Detective Jeremiah Griffin, who was known as McCann's right-hand man, is charged with accepting a bribe and with obtaining money under false pretenses.

The indictments against the two police officials resulted from evidence placed before the July grand jury by District Attorney Wayman. A small army of witnesses gave evidence before the grand jury, among them bootleggers, resort keepers, proprietors of disorderly hotels and alleged "go-betweens." The testimony of these witnesses tended to show the existence of a system of vice protection on the west side, with a fixed scale of prices, paid collectors and all the accessories of a well-regulated business.

The system of graft is alleged to have been revealed to the grand jury in all its workings by gamblers, resort-keepers and others who declared that the controlling syndicate had forced them out of business when they refused to stand for increased assessments for "the privilege" of carrying on their illegal traffic in the police district presided over by Inspector McCann. One incident told by a former resort-keeper on Highland street is said to reveal the simple method adopted by the syndicate to force the payment of tribute. A weekly assessment of $50 had been paid regularly for some time, but when it was found that the place was doing an increased business the proprietor was notified that she must give up $100 instead of $50. This she refused to do and the result, so she said, was that her place was raided nightly by the police until it was forced to close.

The evidence laid before the inquisitorial body is also said to have contained many startling revelations concerning the extent to which the "white slave" traffic has been carried on in Chicago. This particular feature, it is said, is to receive the attention of the August grand jury now in session, and many rumors are in circulation concerning a new batch of indictments to be returned.

While Inspector McCann is the only prominent police official to be indicted so far, it is hinted that a number of others of equal prominence in the department may have to stand trial as a result of District Attorney Wayman's investigations. On the south side, which includes that section of the city extending from the heart of the business district south to Thirty-ninth street, gambling houses, disorderly resorts, concert saloons and other illegal establishments are said to flourish to an even greater extent than in Inspector McCann's division on the west side.

PUPILS RETURN TO THE SCHOOLS

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF CITY WERE OPENED TODAY.

THE ENROLLMENT IS LARGE

Although the Number Enrolled This Year Will Probably Not Much Exceed Number of Former Years.

The school year opened today in the wards and high school with about the same attendance of pupils as in former years. As yet all of the pupils have not started, but the number of scholars will be as large as last year and without doubt a little bit larger. Besides those who entered this morning, there were a number of others that enrolled this afternoon and more will return later in the week. According to the figures of this year, as compared with those of last, there is a slight dropping off in the numbers. But that census was taken a few days after school had started and things were well under way. The difference between the figures is very slight.

The enrollment this morning and of a year ago are as follows:

School	1908	1909
Adams	364	360
Washington	290	263
Lincoln	205	179
Douglas	113	188
Grant	130	125
Garfield	130	128
Jackson	50	51
Jefferson	387	383
Webster	136	125
High school	390	391
Totals	2,195	2,192

The high school scholars went to school half a day, the afternoon being given them as the time in which to purchase their books and supplies. At all of the schools the principal work taken up was that of enrollment and the naming of the books required in every subject. Classes are being organized and will commence their work soon.

Attorney Ryan Attacks Ordinance Which Orders Saloons Closed Sundays.

In municipal court this afternoon, Attorney R. H. Ryan, representing P. J. McKelgan, who was convicted by a jury on the charge of selling liquor on Sunday, began his arguments in which he denies the power of the city council to pass an ordinance prohibiting the sale of liquor on Sunday, in addition to attacking the validity of the ordinance itself in that it was signed by the president of the council and not by the mayor, and also demanding that the verdict be set aside on the grounds that one of the jury was not a naturalized citizen of the United States and that the verdict was not supported by the evidence.

The arguments this afternoon are the result of an agreement between the city attorney and Mr. McKelgan's attorney as to most of the points. By common consent they were postponed until the case had been tried on its merits. In reply to the claims made by the attorney for the defense, City Attorney Maxfield upheld the right of the council to pass the ordinance in question, upheld the validity of the ordinance itself, besides claiming that the presence of an alien on the jury does not invalidate the verdict.

HELP FOR WASHING DISHES.

Kansas Designs Combined Dishpan and Drain That Will Save Time and Towels.

The humble but important operation of dish-washing has been greatly facilitated through the genius of a Kansan. This man has designed a combined dishpan and drain that will save both time and towels, as it permits the water to drip off the dishes before they are dried. The utensil is made for use only in its dual capacity. The dishpan is cut away to allow one end of the drain trough to enter it. This trough rests on legs which give it a downward slant toward the pan and in the bottom is a rack on which the dishes are stood. This rack is raised slightly, so that the water which drips from the china, glass, etc., runs back into the pan. In this way the dishes are rendered comparatively dry before the towel is applied to them, with the result that they can be completely dried much more speedily than when taken directly from the rinse-water, and the towel does not become hopelessly saturated, as by the old-fashioned method.

WALKING-BEAM POWER PUMP.

Home-Made Contrivance for Supplying Water for Ranch by Horse Unaided.

The accompanying sketch shows a novel horse power pump which is used on a ranch in Oregon. This pump consists of a walking beam 20 to 25 feet long, which is connected at one end to the pump rod and at the other end to the shaft of an old mower wheel, says Popular Mechanics. This shaft is lengthened out to about twelve feet and bent into the shape of a crank near the end, opposite the wheel. The bearings for this crank are made from a piece of bar iron Y-shaped with a flat bottom. This iron is bolted down loosely to a piece of timber fitted into the ground. The horse is hitched on near the wheel. The V-shaped bearing turns as the horse walks around in a circle and the crank makes a double stroke for every revolution of the mower wheel. Where a well is deep two mowers wheels may be put together to add tractive weight. A horse soon learns to operate this pump without a driver.

Wireless and Safety at Sea.

"Or look, too, another and powerful safeguard has come into use," writes L. Frank Tooker in an account in Century of new and old devices for navigating in fog and darkness. "If one enters the wireless telegraphy room of a transatlantic steamer he will find on the wall a rectangular chart crossed and recrossed by many black lines. Across it also runs one broader line in red ink. On the margin of the chart are marked the days of the week. It is the wireless guide for the current month; the red line gives the course of the steamer, while the many black lines crossing it indicate to the operator at what hour of each day of his passage he will probably pick up the wireless messages of other ships crossing that month. The ship, one sees at a glance, is scarcely ever out of touch with other ships through which disaster may come; and with this knowledge of constant intercommunication the feeling of security justly grows."

A New Lifebelt.

Though numerous appliances have from time to time been contrived for the purpose of superseding the familiar type of lifebelt, the latter still retains its popularity. Yet it possesses well-known disadvantages. A new device has now been evolved by an inventor of Antwerp. The belt comprises two buoyant cushions, which are designed to fit upon the chest and upper part of the back respectively, connected by straps passing over the shoulders. The cushions are held firmly in the requisite position by a belt, which passes round the waist and fastens with a buckle. In this manner the wearer's head is kept well above water and there is no possibility of his equilibrium being upset.

1854; and Sir Martin Probsthor, 1878, were all animated by the commercial idea, scientific exploration playing little or no part in them. They were all accompanied by large loss of life and even thus early in recorded expeditions did the stern northward begin to collect its tribute of human lives.

Among recorded explorations John Davis, the Welshman, appears at the head of the list, for in 1585 that intrepid navigator reached 72 degrees 12 minutes before he fell back before what seemed to him a hopeless task. This was after he had cruised in Arctic waters for over two years. Twenty-eight years later, Capt. Hall, whose name is always linked with Arctic climates, reached 77 degrees and 45 minutes when he, too, turned away before the ice barrier between Grinnell Land and Greenland. Disease and cold had decimated his crew and he said the northwest passage was impassable.

These navigators, who had been Hudson's farthest north was made in 1607, at 80 degrees and 23 minutes. For more than 100 years after this the Arctic circle smiled grimly, for no one with any success attempted to penetrate its fastnesses.

But with the beginning of the nineteenth century the fever again broke forth and the English as usual were the most adventurous. Bold and able seamen like Ross and Parry, Sir John Franklin and Scorsby attacked the ice pack, some from the eastern and some from the western hemisphere, with varying results. Ross in 1827 cut a new notch when he reached 81 degrees and 45 minutes. Parry in the same year reached 82 degrees and 45 minutes.

Parry, an experienced navigator, who already had accompanied other explorers, discovered a number of new lands and waters which he named and claimed for the British throne. His farthest north was attained after more than ten years of exploration in Arctic waters. He was knighted and other

From the day of Kane on there was a notable stimulus in America towards the effort to reach the pole. The northwest passage search was abandoned until in our own time Amundsen found it. But the efforts of Nordenskjold, 1886 (81 degrees, 52 minutes); Julius Mayer, 1874 (81 degrees 5 minutes); and Nares, 1876, (83 degrees 21 minutes), spurred our countrymen to new attempts which bore fruit in the brilliant exploit of Lieut. De Long in 1879, who however, was turned back at 77 degrees, and Commander Greely, who planted the stars and stripes in 1884 at 83 degrees 24 minutes.

The tragic fate of Greely's boat, the Proteus, involving a loss of 20 of his men, cast a gloom over his achievement, but his record was not surpassed until Fridtjof Nansen, like the viking's son he is, reached 86 degrees 15 minutes in 1896.

Four years later Lieut. Robert E. Peary attained 93 degrees 50 minutes. Nothing daunted, he repeated his attempt in 1902, negotiating 84 degrees 17 minutes, and again three years ago, when he reached 87 degrees 46 minutes.

Meanwhile the adventurous duke of Abruzzi turned his attention from mountain climbing to the lure of the north, and pushed his way in 1900 to 86 degrees 34 minutes. Peary's record, however, remained the top notch until the remarkable feat of Dr. Cook, which became known a few days ago. Peary on his north visit went back yesterday of his successful quest and now two Americans claim this honor.

SEEKS INSURANCE ON HER HUSBAND'S LIFE

Man Has Been Missing Twelve Years and Wife Now Wants Company to Pay Indemnity.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 7.—Alleging that her husband who has been missing for twelve years and from whom not a word has been heard, is legally dead, Mrs. R. L. C. Holbeck started suit in circuit court here today against the New York Life Insurance Co. for $2,000, the amount of the insurance policy.

Under the laws of Wisconsin a man if nothing has been heard from him is declared legally dead after seven years. Mr. Holbeck was a prominent financier and mysteriously disappeared in 1887.

JOYETTE WIDS THE COVETED TAFT CUP

Plucky Little Craft Carries Off Honors in Sonderklasse Races.

Marblehead, Sept. 7.—German yachtsmen had a longing for American cups. Therefore there were three trim little London boats in American waters to contest for the President Taft and Governor Draper cups at Marblehead, Mass. The president's cup was offered in the Sonderklasse. In it the Joyette and Wolf American boats were winners upon the first and second day's races. Then on the third day the Helvella, a German entrant, won out. Then the Joyette won and then the Joyette.

The winner of the four first legs were the ones to meet in the finals of the races Monday, September 6. The winner in this event takes the trophy cup without regard to standing in the other races, which were simply trial preliminaries. The winner of the Taft trophy is not eligible to contest for the governor's cup.

This meeting of the German and American yachts is a return to the starting of the Americans in the Kell regatta, and the events will be arranged as national affairs. The Germans have won many friends for themselves among the followers of yachting by the way in which they accepted defeat and their victories were not begrudged them. Today the Joyette defeated the Ellen by a scant margin and owns the cup.

backed by private capital searching for gain, wrote accounts of their voyages that were enough to daunt the hardest of adventurers. But not the loss of life and not the loss of money and ships were sufficient to deter others from making similar attempts. These men had attempted to gain their point from the western hemisphere, but while they were doing this others had tried the same thing from the eastern hemisphere. Particularly Admiral Baronts and Capt. also rewarded by the English government for his achievements. Sir John Franklin, of whose expeditions so much was expected, was fated never to make more than 78 degrees, so far as is known. He set out to him was too late and it was not until years afterward that any traces of him or his ship were found which proved the fairs of his fate were well founded.

Later than Franklin came Elisha Kent Kane, the American explorer, who was one of the first of our nation to mark the way to the north. In 1854 he made 80 degrees 35 minutes north, touching Cape Constitution, which he named.

"Jeanette" Travel Coats, the Hit of the Season - - $15.00

Special Showing Monday, Sept. 13, of Fall Suits and Coats

By the Agent of One of New York's Largest Manufacturers. A Great Sale For One Day Only.

GREATEST SUIT AND COAT SHOWING EVER OFFERED IN ROCK COUNTY

We want to make plain to you the marked advantages of buying your fall suit and coat here and at this showing.

Right now our stock of fall suits and coats is the largest in Janesville, comprising about 300 new 1900 fall models, that for excellence of style, or workmanship, or materials, are not equaled at the prices we are making. This is to be our fall opening sale and to our large and unsurpassed stock we will add the entire sample line of one of New York's largest makers, including hundreds of suits for juniors, misses and women, as well as all sample coats for children, juniors, misses and women. We are going to show some truly new and beautiful models of new weave home-spuns and rough materials of mannish effect, some very plain tailored, others elaborately trimmed. All have the new plaited skirts. But the hit of the fall style fashions is the "Morgan Age" style, which means "the highest qualities of the middle ages." This style of suits and coats promises to be the choice of refined dressers and is already very popular in the metropolitan style centers. This style is best described as a coat with plaited skirt and is shown in coats for women, misses, juniors and children, as well as in the suits. In the suits both the coat and the skirt are plaited, making a very swagger effect. Suits are priced $10 and up. A few good numbers are quoted below:

Junior suit of hard twisted worsted, invisible stripe, coat lined throughout, metal rimmed buttons to match, plain tailored slashed coat, skirt button trimmed, $10.00.

A swell suit of fine broadcloth, guaranteed lining, coat 45 inches long, plaited back and side, pocket effects, welt seams, jet button trimming, skirt made full, plaits to the knees, welt seams and large inverted seam down center, finely tailored in black and all colors. All sizes, $30 value, on sale this day only at $20.00.

Suits of satin finish, invisible stripe serge, elaborately trimmed with Jub buttons, self stripe bands and silk cord button loops. Dutch color band cuffs, semi-fitting 45-in. coat, skirt trimmed with jet buttons, plaited to knee height all around, excellent workmanship, guaranteed lining. A garment that would not look high priced in a city window at $50.00, our price $30.00.

At This Great Opening Sale We Will Introduce the "Jeanette" Rain and Travel Coats

A distinctly new and handsome line of coats, in all the latest autumn colors. Three styles, tight fitting, semi-fitting and loose fitting. Jeanette coats are made of all wool Prunellas, Henriettes and serges that have been rubberized. These coats do not resemble the silk-subberized coats in any way, though the process of rubberizing is similar. We promise that they will give excellent service, wearing much better than a rubberized silk coat. They shed dust and rain, are wind proof and will not wrinkle. Priced $15.00. Others more elaborately made at higher prices. Our showing of coats is complete in every detail. See these specials:

A beautiful gray coat with just a little green mixture, full length of Covert material, small patch pockets, 0-8 fitting, slashed back, cuffs on pockets, bone buttons to match, $20.00.

Tan Covert, full length, cloth covered buttons, novelty pockets and cuffs, 7/8 fitting, half satin lined. A $15.00 value at $10.00.

Children's fall-jackets, in all colors and sizes, are offered at half price.

A complete showing of new fall undershirts to match the suits.

Guaranteed taffeta silk skirt, made extra full, flounce 18 inches, all colors, $6.50 value at $5 for this day only.

Hygrade skirts, like heatherbloom, 13-in. embroidered flounce, 95c. Many other excellent values.

CURRENT ITEMS.

Three Drunks: Three prisoners faced Judge Field in municipal court this morning, charged with accumulating too large a "package" while celebrating the anniversary of labor. Charles Boehm paid a fine of $3 and costs, which aggregated $4.10. John Maloney was allowed a week's reprieve to pay a similar amount, while the case against James McVoy was adjourned on his promise that he would leave the town.

Going to Dakota: John W. Brown, Harry Carroll, Gordon Young, and Byron Barclay expect to depart this evening for Lemmon, South Dakota, where they expect to file claims on 160-acre tracts of government land.

Term of County Court: The September term of the county court opened at the courthouse today with Burr Sprague of Broadhead, T. D. Woolley and Cornelius Buckley of Beloit, Ray W. Clarke of Milton, H. M. Richmond of Evansville, and a number of other visiting attorneys on hand. They day was devoted to calendar work.

Here From Seattle: Edward A. Johnson, formerly employed at the lumber drugstore and at present manager of a pharmacy at Seattle, arrived here last evening for a visit. Attendance at the exposition, he says, has passed the two-and-a-half-million mark and it will be a success financially. The number of people who visit the big show will take up their permanent residence in that vicinity. Seattle has grown from a city of 80,000 to a metropolis of 300,000 people in the space of nine years.

Automobile Parties: Automobile parties registered at the Hotel Myers since yesterday noon consisted of the following: W. H. Sampson and family of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Richardson, and Ever Nelson of Clinton, Ia.; W. G. Kring, W. T. Church, and H. W. Bush of Chicago; E. B. Joyce, W. H. Herman, C. F. Laranson, and H. T. Schmidt, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Chamberlin of Chicago.

ACT AS JUDGE IN THIS MATTER

CITIZENS VERSUS JANESVILLE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY.

COMPLAINT AND ANSWER

Read Them Both—Then Judge for Yourself by Personal Observation as to the Case.

Now that the Janesville Street Railway, through its attorneys, has filed its answer to the complaint filed with the state railroad commission, the public can have an opportunity to judge for themselves if the street car company intends to do anything toward the improvement of their system unless they are obliged to by the machinations of the law.

So that the citizens generally, the taxpayers, the general public, can judge for themselves in this interesting case the complaint as filed by the city attorney, ordered by the common council and the answer of the city attorney. It is the public that is most vitally interested in this matter and it is the public that has demanded that the street car company be brought to time with a sharp, quick jerk.

The complaint with the answer appears below and if it proves an amusing article for the reader, why laugh as it might really be placed on a par with the Foolish Question puzzle:

COMPLAINT AGAINST CARRIER

Railroad Commission of Wisconsin.
H. L. Maxfield against the Janesville Street Railway Company.

The petition of the above named H. L. Maxfield respectfully shows:

1. That he is the city attorney for the city of Janesville, Rock county, Wisconsin.

Answer: Respondent admits that H. L. Maxfield is the city attorney of the city of Janesville.

2. That the above named street railway company is a carrier, engaged in the transportation of persons by railroad, electric street railway, and other means.

Answer: Respondent admits that it is doing business under a franchise granted by the city of Janesville.

3. That the said street railway company is operating cars over its street railway system in said city of Janesville that are dilapidated, rickety, unsafe and unsanitary and dangerous to life and limb; that while in operation the sides of said cars and the whole framework creak, sway and rock, and that on several of said cars the springs are broken and so worn as to render them useless and the wheels scrape the floors when the same are loaded with passengers, so rendering them wholly unfit for street railway purposes and a nuisance and menace to the passengers riding on said cars at all times in danger, as well as the people traveling over the streets in said city as the wheels of said cars and the tracks of said cars are in such a worn and dilapidated condition that its cars are liable to, and do, leave its said tracks and run into the curbing on the streets, trees, poles, or whatever obstructions happen to be on said streets over which the cars of said street railway company are being operated.

Answer: Respondent denies each and every allegation in the third paragraph of the petition.

4. That all of the tracks and roadway of said Janesville Street railway company is in such a worn, unsafe and dilapidated condition by reason of decaying ties, insufficient number of ties, and want of proper ballasting, and for the further reason of an improper and insufficient fastening together of the rail of said tracks and the use of said company on several streets of a rail of insufficient size and weight, as to render the tracks of said street railway system of said city unsafe and dangerous for the operation thereof over electric street railway cars of modern pattern; that the rails used by said street railway company on West Milwaukee street from East Milwaukee street to High street are of uneven height set in at irregular intervals and the tracks between said street and Milwaukee street between said street and Milwaukee street are of uneven height set in at irregular intervals and the tracks between said street and Milwaukee street are of uneven height set in at irregular intervals.

Answer: Respondent denies each and every allegation in the fourth paragraph of the petition.

5. That the cross wires that support the trolley wire of said street railway system are of insufficient number; a great many are without any insulation whatever, and the ones that are insulated are in such a worn and dilapidated condition as to be in imminent danger of breaking and giving way and allowing the trolley wire of said company, which carries a large voltage of electricity, to fall to the street, thereby endangering the lives and property of the citizens of the city of Janesville.

Answer: Respondent denies each and every allegation in the fifth paragraph of the petition.

6. That said Janesville Street Railway company's system is in such a worn, battered and unsafe condition as to render the same a menace to life, limb and property; that the passengers carried over said street railway system, by reason of the rocking, creaking and rickety state of the same, are liable to become injured, sick and disabled.

Answer: Respondent denies each and every allegation in the sixth paragraph of the petition.

7. That said company is in such a poor financial condition as to render the collection of a judgment against it almost impossible.

Answer: Respondent declines to make any comment or answer as to the seventh paragraph of the petition.

FROM THE BENCH.

A Judge Commends 'Pure Food'

A Judge of a Colorado Court said: "Nearly one year ago I began the use of Grape-Nuts as a food. Constant confinement indoors and the monotonous grind of office duties had so weakened and impaired my mental powers that I felt the imperative need of something which neither doctors nor food specialists seemed able to supply."

"A week's use of Grape-Nuts twice each day convinced me that some unusual and marvelous virtue was contained therein. My mental vigor returned with astonishing rapidity; brain weariness (from which I had constantly suffered) quickly disappeared; clearness of thought and intellectual health and activity which I had never previously known were to me the plain results of a few months use of this food."

"Unhesitatingly I commend Grape-Nuts as the most remarkable food preparation which science has ever produced so far as my knowledge and experience extends."

"The Judge is right. Grape-Nuts food is a certain and remarkable brain builder and can be relied upon."

"There's a reason."

"Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

JOE VAN KIRK'S LIFE IS ENDED

FOUND DEAD AT MILTON AVE. HOME THIS MORNING.

WAS LAST SEEN ON SUNDAY

His Mother, Mrs. Isabelle Van Kirk, Made Terrible Discovery Upon Return From Eastern Trip.

Actuated by motives which, aside from a known dissatisfaction with the opportunities and associations of his position in the business world, his nearest relatives and friends cannot fathom, Joseph A. Van Kirk, youngest son of the late Wm. T. Van Kirk, who died May 1, 1904, ended his life at the family residence, 225 Milton avenue, sometime Sunday afternoon or evening. That the beautiful home sheltered a tragedy was not learned until seven o'clock this morning when the young man's mother, Mrs. Isabelle B. Van Kirk, visited the place and with no pretension of the terrible discovery awaiting her, opened the door of the upper front room and found him lying upon a bed, fully dressed but cold in death. Though the windows were open, there was a strong odor of illuminating gas in the chamber and the lower end of a small rubber tube, which had been connected with the nearest gas jet, lay beside the sleeper's head, on the pillow, and was still pouring out its poisonous fumes.

Mother Returned Last Night.

Mrs. Van Kirk arrived home last evening from an extended visit, in company with her daughter, Mrs. Fannie Belle Tucker, in the state of Maine. She found the doors of the residence locked and supposing that there had been some misunderstanding regarding the time of her arrival and that her son was spending the night elsewhere, went to the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. L. C. Galvin. "Joe" arrived here from Chicago about a month ago for his summer vacation and during the last few weeks had been the only occupant of the house so that no one was in close touch with his comings and goings.

Had Been Dead Many Hours.

The grief-stricken mother, though almost overcome by the shock, in some manner regained sufficient presence of mind to summon assistance over the telephone. She has been hoarse and has been throughout the day and her many relatives and friends in the community are doing all that can be done for her in this hour of deep affliction. That the death had occurred sometime Sunday, was the opinion given, after an examination, by Dr. F. H. Farnsworth, who was one of the first to be called to the scene. An unopened copy of one of the Sunday Chicago papers, which lay on a chair near the bed, gave the date of the death as Sunday. Neither the physician nor District Attorney J. L. Fisher discovered any circumstantial evidence which would warrant an inquest and none will be held.

At Woodring's Saturday.

It was learned later in the forenoon that he spent Saturday evening at the home of W. W. Woodring and took breakfast there at eight o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. Woodring says that thereafter he accompanied him to his home; that "Joe" seemed very discontented and told him that he was going to Dakota to join Bert Watt and Sam Ebelin. Mr. Woodring tried to persuade him not to act hastily upon this plan, but was assured that he had made up his mind and that he (Mr. Woodring) would not see him again.

Well Liked by Everyone.

Gentle and democratic, generous to a fault, harboring no ill will against anyone, and gifted with an artistic temperament which made for an unusually interesting and original personality, the late Joseph A. Van Kirk was a favorite in whatever circle of friends he graced and there is gloom in many hearts today. His natural talents were such that he might have become a great painter and musician as a man should love his work it is not difficult to understand why his duties, as silk and dress fabrics expert in the large Chicago and St. Louis department stores, may have failed to command his enthusiasm and were perhaps more often irksome than pleasant. He was thirty-two years of age and is survived by a sister and two brothers—Mrs. Fred Tucker, William C. and Dr. Frank Van Kirk, all of Chicago. The last named arrived here this noon.

The funeral will occur Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock from his mother's residence on Milton avenue.

Quiet Celebration in City Yesterday.

No Parade or Amusements to Hold People and Crowds Attended Out of Town Entertainments.

Labor Day in this city was very quietly celebrated in this city yesterday. There being no celebration in this city, the crowds were attracted out of town to celebrations in other cities and to the parks and amusement grounds down the river. Picnic parties up the river were also quite a popular method of recreation. Quite a number spent the day at the golf links.

Two hundred from here attended the entertainments at parks along the interurban line. At Honoring park there were two picnics, a barbecue held by the Woodmen of the World, and another lodge picnic. The annual picnic of the Carpenter's union was held at Yeck's park. The ball game between the Janesville Machine company and the Beloit Nationals, at the Carpenter's picnic resulted in the defeat of the former, 7 to 4.

Open air concerts, speaking, and baseball game and a dance formed the chief part of the celebration of the day at Clinton. The Clinton court band gave concerts throughout the day. In the afternoon at Harbor's Grove, Hon. Wallace Angell delivered a speech, and at three o'clock the Clinton and Darion baseball teams engaged in a contest.

End Reported Near: Mrs. George S. Davy of N. High street, who has been ill for some time, is reported today to be in a very critical condition, and it is feared that she may not live through the day.

BELOITER 57 YEARS BUT NOT A CITIZEN

William Hamlin Finds on Looking Over Record That Father Never Filed Second Papers.

Though his father was drafted for service in the Union army during the War of the Rebellion and though he, himself, has lived in Beloit 57 years, William Hamlin, a jeweler, learned at the court house today that he is not a citizen of the United States and will have to take out first and second papers before he can vote at another election. His brother wrote from Tacoma asking him to get the record of the father's second citizenship papers, supposed to be on file in this city. The records, on investigation, only showed that George Hamlin, who was first papers on April 6, 1866, and there was nothing to show that he ever took out the second papers. Under the new federal law which recently went into effect, aliens, even in cases where they took up their residence here before reaching the age of 21 years, are denied the rights of citizenship in cases where their fathers failed to take out first and second papers and after the next election no one who is not a full-fledged citizen will be allowed to vote. Mr. Hamlin, Jr., came to America when he was about five years of age.

CARD OF THANKS.

I hereby wish to thank all my relatives and friends who so kindly assisted me in winning third prize in The Gazette's popularity contest, District No. 2. MINNIE BEHLING.

LARGELY INCREASED ATTENDANCE

At the Opening of the Fall Term of the Southern Wisconsin Business College This Morning.

This morning the Southern Wisconsin Business College was the scene of the gathering of many new faces, the occasion being the opening for the fall term. The enrollment was more than double that of any previous year and speaks well for the popularity of this grade school business school. Students are enrolled from five states and Mexico. The management are compelled to place on order for immediate delivery of more new typewriters and seating equipment. This school is already the finest equipped business school in Southern Wisconsin. Owing to extensive advertising, it is known throughout the country, consequently calls for bookkeepers and stenographers are always in excess of the supply. The President, W. W. Dale, thus assures every young man or woman who completes the course, a good position or refunds every dollar of tuition. The public are cordially invited to call and visit this modern commercial school—a school of which Janesville has good reason to be proud.

The DANE COUNTY FAIR

SEPTEMBER 7, 8, 9, 10, 1909--MADISON, WIS.

EXTRA SPECIAL Alice Woorster's 3 Ladies 4- Mile Relay Races, Chariot and Tandem Races Every Afternoon

The relay team holds the world's record for the 4-mile race. It's the same team that the State Fair has paid $2500 to see, as an attraction the past years.

Every afternoon 3 girls will start horseback on 3 horses, race a mile as fast as they can, then jump onto horse number 2, go another mile, change on to number 3, ride the third mile and mount horse number 4 and finish the four-mile race.

The changing of horses will take place in front of the grandstand, twelve horses taking part in this race. It will no doubt be one of the most thrilling and exciting events of the fair.

True Philosophy

I have been told of a Spaniard who always put on his spectacles when about to eat cherries, that they might look bigger and more tempting. In like manner, I make the most of my enjoyments, and pack away my troubles in as small a compass as I can.—Robert Southey.

FOUND A WAY

To Be Clear of the Coffee Troubles.

"Husband and myself both had the coffee habit and finally his stomach and kidneys got in such a bad condition that he was compelled to give up a good position that he had held for years. He was too sick to work. His skin was yellow, and I hardly think there was an organ in his body that was not affected.

"I told him I felt sure his sickness was due to coffee and after some discussion he decided to give it up.

"It was a struggle, because of the powerful habit. One day we heard about Postum and concluded to try it and then it was easy to leave off coffee.

"His fearful headaches grew less frequent, his complexion began to clear, kidneys grew better until at last he was a new man altogether, as a result of leaving off coffee and taking up Postum. Then I began to drink it too.

"Although I was never as bad off as my husband, I was always very nervous and never at any time very strong, only weighing 95 lbs. before I began to use Postum. Now I weigh 115 lbs. and can do as much work as anyone my size I think.

"Many do not use Postum because they have not taken the trouble to make it right. I have successfully fooled a great many persons who have drunk it at my table. They would remark, 'You must buy a high grade of coffee.' One young man who clerked in a grocery store was very enthusiastic about my 'coffee.' When I told him what it was, he said, 'Why I've sold Postum for four years but I had no idea it was like this. Think I'll drink Postum hereafter.'

COOK GLAD OF IT; DRAMATIC EPISODE

PLEASED TO LEARN THAT PEARY ALSO FOUND NORTH POLE.

HONOR ENOUGH FOR BOTH

Receives Announcement of Rival's Success Coolly and Shows Good Humor—Hoped His Tube Was Found—Decorated by Danish King.

Copenhagen, Sept. 7.—Dr. Frederik A. Cook was greatly interested in the report that Commander Robert E. Peary had also found the north pole. Friends of Dr. Cook say he will not enter into a controversy with Peary. Dr. Cook said:

It is doubtful if history furnishes a more dramatic episode than the breaking of the news to Dr. Cook that Peary had realized the goal of his life's ambition and repeated struggles. Dr. Cook was seated at a dinner surrounded by explorers and correspondents in the gilded ball room of the Tivoli casino. Around his neck was hung a garland of pink roses, according to the Scandinavian method of honoring heroes, which the explorer wore blushing and with visible embarrassment. Several speeches acclaiming him had been given and repeated toasts to him drunk with clamorous cheers.

Glad Peary Succeeded.

Amid this scene a whisper went around that Peary had planted the Stars and Stripes at the pole. Cook was perfectly cool and unmoved. He made a striking speech in which he paid a high tribute to the work of Sverdrup, who, at near, to whose discoveries he largely owed his success; to John H. Bradley, who had financed the expedition; to the intelligence, endurance and faithfulness of the Eskimos who had assisted him in the preparations, and those who had accompanied him. The whole story of the expedition, he said, has not come out and will not come out for some time; nor will it come in installments, but only when it is completed.

Dr. Cook did not permit the whisper which came to his ear of Peary's success to move him in the least, but when he had finished he was surrounded by correspondents, who looked for some sign of emotion, but the explorer, smilingly, "I am glad."

Hopes Peary Found Tube.

Asked if there was any probability of Peary's having found the tube containing his records, Dr. Cook replied: "I hope so, but that is doubtful on account of the drift." Dr. Cook added: "Commander Peary would have reached the pole this year, probably while I was there. Last year his route was several hundred miles east of mine. We are rivals, of course, but the pole is good enough for two.

"That two men got to the pole along different paths," continued the explorer, "should furnish large additions to scientific knowledge. Probably other parties will reach it in the next ten years, since every explorer is helped by the experience of his predecessors. Just as Sverdrup's observations and reports were of immeasurable help to me. I can say nothing more, without knowing further details, than that I am glad of it."

While Dr. Cook was conversing casually earlier in the day with American friends the possibility of the discovery which electrified the world was coolly suggested, Dr. Cook remarked: "It is quite possible that Peary will turn up now. He is about due to get back, if he carries out his plans. We have always been friends while of course we are rivals in the attempt to find the pole, but we have been friendly rivals."

Honored by the King.

If any evidence is needed to establish Denmark's valuation of Dr. Cook it can be found in the fact that he is to receive the two highest possible official tokens within his gift. The king is to confer on him the gold medal of merit with the crown, which only three other geographers, Nansen, Sven Hedin and Amundson, are entitled to wear, and the Geographical society will bestow upon him its gold medal, which has been given to four other travelers only, Nansen, Capt. Scott, Hedin and Sverdrup.

Navy Needs 40,000 Jackknives.

Washington, Sept. 7.—The naval bureau of supplies and accounts is in the market for 40,000 jackknives of the new type recently adopted. This is a knife with two blades, a large and a small one. The article has been received with favor in the navy, a thorough test having been made of its usefulness.

Aeronaut Dashed to Death.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 7.—Aeronaut Banker of Aurora was dashed to death before a Labor day crowd at Electric park, near Sycamore. Banker ascended to a height of 500 feet when he cut loose from the balloon. The parachute failed to open and Banker came down like a rocket.

Ship Wrecked; 90 Escape Death.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 7.—Fifty passengers and 40 members of the crew escaped to land after a trying experience when the Allan line steamer Laurentian was wrecked on the rocks near Cape Race yesterday.

Farms Killed from Ambush.

Huntington, W. Va., Sept. 7.—Ezra Peters, a farmer living near Proctorville, Lawrence county, Ohio, was shot from ambush and killed while walking down a road with his brother. Peters was recently concerned in some litigation, and it is thought that this is the cause of the assassination.

BANDIT'S WIDOW AT CHURCH.

Mrs. Jesse James Attends Religious Services at Camp Meeting.

New York, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Jesse James, widow of the notorious Missouri bandit, has been one of the most devoted attendants at the annual camp meeting at Ocean Grove, N. J. This became known when Miss Anna Hughes fell dead before the audience of 2,000 persons, while leading in prayer. One of those who went to the stricken woman's assistance was Mrs. James.

Mrs. James has been living quietly at the camp meeting resort and daily has led the large meetings in song and prayer. At the late feast, which is a part of the daily program, Mrs. James has given her personal testimony.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Footville, Wis., Sept. 6.—Yesterday marked the culmination of six months of persistent effort on the part of the members of the Church of Christ at Footville. The new, excellently appointed house of worship, built to replace the one destroyed by fire last January, was dedicated and money was subscribed to cover all indebtedness and a comfortable balance behind.
Rev. D. N. Wotzel, pastor of the Christian church at Mattoon, Ill., preached the dedicatory sermon to a crowded house and had general charge of the service in connection with the raising of the necessary subscription. He was for several years the pastor of this congregation and the old church had been remodeled during his ministry, so it was peculiarly fitting that he should dedicate this new building. The choir of the church furnished special music and Mrs. J.

D. Dehl of Madison sang solos, both morning and evening. Visitors were present from many points, Milwaukee, Madison, Beloit, Evansville, Janesville and Rockford being some of the cities represented. It was a memorable occasion for the entire community.
In the afternoon a confirmation service was held and Rev. Mr. Wotzel again preached. In the evening the pastor of the church preached on the subject of "The Place of the Disciples of Christ in American History."
In the course of his remarks he mentioned the fact that the "Disciples of Christ" stood fifth, numerically, among the Protestant bodies of America and presented the highest percentage of increase during the past sixteen years.
They lead in teacher training and the number of organized adult Bible classes and are second in the number and membership of organized Christian Endeavor societies. A number brought dinner and spent the day, thus putting to practical use at once the dining room of the new church, where the Ladies Aid served tea and coffee free. All the services were favored by the beautiful weather providing.

In a hard, fast game yesterday afternoon, the Third ward Red Sox defeated the Ringold Rippers, 6 to 4.
The Rippers were unable to locate the curves of C. Baumgartner, hitting them only three times, while the Red Sox, on the other hand, batted Jungblut
all over the field, securing fifteen hits off him. The Rippers secured a start in the first, making three runs, but Baumgartner and Knuck, catcher, backed by substantial support, prevented the Rippers from securing another run until the ninth round. Baumgarner whiffed fourteen men while Jungblut retired eight.
The following is the line-up of the teams:
Red Sox—Knuck, c; Baumgartner, p;
Mulligan, ss; E. Baumgartner, 1st b;
Moore, 2nd b; Osborne 3rd b; Grant, lf; Pickering, cf; McLaughlin, rf.

ED GEERS' STABLE IS DIS APPOINTING—MARIE N.
Will Marie N. be one of the disappointments of the harness season of 1909 and add her name to the string of disappointments that have been handed Ed Geers for handling this year. Before the M. & M. at Detroit, Marie N. was a top heavy favorite in the pools. She took second money.
At Kalamazoo she was down fifth in the money. At Cleveland she did not have Margie to oppose in the two previous races, but Marie N. is not showing the form expected and hoped for.
Geers' stable is disappointing early in the season. There is no member of much account outside of The Harvester and the pacer, Walter W.
When Geers left Detroit he shipped home a carload of deadwood, or those that would not do, and it looks as if he would have to have another clear-

HELPING CONSTRUCT AERO-PLANE IN WHICH SHE WILL MAKE 'TRIP.'
Miss Genevieve Shaffer.
San Francisco.—Miss Genevieve Shaffer of this city has assisted her brother, Cayo, T. Shaffer, who is a member of the New York Aero club, in constructing an aeroplane and she is making her plans to take a trip in it.
Miss Shaffer, who has been called by her friends the Katherine Wright of the Pacific coast, is young and pretty, and she has long been interested in aeronautics.
Speaking of her coming flight, she said: "I hope to be the first woman ever to fly anywhere in an aeroplane.
My aeroplane should be ready shortly; all it lacks now are the engine, and since it has demonstrated its efficiency as a glider I do not think there should be any apprehension but that it will be a good flying machine."
The frame of the Shaffer aeroplane is 20 feet from tip to tip and the extensions from tip to rear rudder planes will be 20 feet. The planes are arched and the frame is covered with a prepared waterproof cloth. The frame is of spruce, reinforced with plane wires. The wing tips will extend beyond the ends of the planes.

Why the Play Stopped.
During the performance at the Na-recently the curtain suddenly went down on the middle of an act. The manager presently explained, that the curtain-raiser had received a telegram announcing that he had won $8,000 in a lottery, and had dropped the curtain in his excitement.

He rose as he spoke, and Barak understood the smile and question, and waited. Mr. Van Torp went into the next room, and came back almost immediately, bringing a small black morocco case, which he set on the table and unlocked with a little key that hung on his watchchain. He was not fond of wearing jewelry, and the box held all his possessions of that sort, and was not full. There were three or four sets of plain studs and links; there were half a dozen very big gold collar studs; there was a bit of an old gold chain, apparently cut off at each end, and having one cheap little diamond set in each link; and there was a thin old wedding ring that must have been a woman's; besides a few other valueless trinkets, all lying loose and in confusion. Mr. Van Torp shook the box a little, poked the contents about with one large finger, and soon found an uncut red stone about the size of a hazelnut, which he took out and placed on the white cloth before the visitor.

"Now that's what I call a ruby," he said, with a smile of satisfaction. "Got any like that, young man? Because if you have I'll talk to you, maybe. Yes," he continued, watching the oriental's face. "I told you I'd make you sit up. But I didn't mean to scare you baldheaded. What's the matter with you, anyway? Your eyes are popping out of your head. Do you feel as if you were going to have a fit? I say! Stemp!"

Barak was indeed violently affected by the sight of the uncut ruby, and his face had changed in a startling way; a great vein like a whipcord suddenly showed itself on his smooth forehead straight up and down; his lids had opened so wide that they almost all around the iris; he was biting his lower lip so that it was swollen and blood-red against the little white teeth; and a moment before Mr. Van Torp had called out to his servant, the young man had reeled visibly, and would have collapsed if the American had not caught the slender waist and supported the small head against his shoulder with his other hand.

Stemp was not within hearing, therefore Mr. Van Torp called to him in vain, and meanwhile stood where he was, with his arm round Barak, and Barak's head on his shoulder; but as no one came at his call, he lifted the slim figure gently and carried it towards the sofa, and while he was crowding the large room with his burden the palpable truth was forced upon him that his visitor's illness was more apparent than real, and an affair of shape rather than of pounds. Before he had quite reached the lounge, however, Barak stirred, wriggled in his arms, and sprang to the floor and stood upright, blinking a little, like a person waking from a dream, but quite steady, and trying to smile in an apologetic sort of way, though evidently still deeply disturbed. Mr. Van Torp smiled, too, as if to offer his congratulations on the quick recovery.

"Feel better now?" he inquired in a kindly tone, and nodded. "I wonder what on earth you're up to, young lady!" he colloquially, watching Barak's movements.

He was much too cautious and wise to like being left alone for many minutes with a girl, and a good-looking one, who went about London dressed in men's clothes and passed herself for a ruby merchant. Mr. Van Torp was well aware that he was not a safe judge of precious stones, that the rubies he had seen might very well be imitation, and that the girl's emotion at the sight of the rough stone might be only a piece of clever acting, the whole scene having been planned by a gang of thieves for the purpose of robbing him of that very ruby, which was worth a large sum, even in his estimation; for it was nearly the counterpart of the one he

MODERN WAY OF LIVING

Has a Tendency to Weaken the Strongest.

One hundred years ago there was less kidney trouble than there is today.

The worry, hurry, and overwork of modern living doubles the work of the kidneys, wears and weakens them until unable to properly do their duty of filtering the poisons from the blood. As a result the whole system runs down.

Need the slightest symptom of kidney trouble—the first backache, the first irregularity of the urine. It may be the forerunner of dangerous disease. You can cure yourself quickly with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Read the experience of a Janesville citizen.

Chas. W. Allen, living in Janesville, Wis., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and can recommend them as a good kidney and backache remedy and one that can be relied upon. I suffered from kidney trouble for a long time, and although I used different preparations, I received no relief. Finally I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from the People's Drug Co. and began their use. In a few days my trouble left me, and it has never returned."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Mr. Van Torp Was Puzzled.

count out coins with his right hand on the palm of his left to explain that he had bought it. There was no mistake, and Barak nodded quickly and went on to her next question. She wanted to know what kind of a man had sold him the ruby. She provided a pretty little dumb show in which she represented the seller and Mr. Van Torp the buyer of the ruby, and then by gestures she asked if the man who sold it was tall.

Van Torp raised his hand several inches higher than his own head. He had bought the ruby from a very tall man. Putting both hands to her chin and then drawing them down as if stroking a long beard, she inquired if the man had one, and again the answer was affirmative. She nodded excitedly and pointed first to Van Torp's sandy hair and then to her own short black locks. The American pointed to his own, and then touched his watch-chain and smiled. The man's hair was fair, and even golden. By a similar process she ascertained that his eyes were blue and not black, and her excitement grew. Last of all she tried to ask where the man was, but it was some time before she could make Mr. Van Torp understand what she meant. As if to help her out of her difficulty, the sun shone through the clouds at that moment and streamed into the room; she pointed to it at once, turned her back to it, and then held out her right hand to indicate the east, and her left to the west.

"Oh, yes," said Van Torp, who had seen Indians do the same thing. "It was west of here that I bought it of him, a good way west."

He pointed in that direction, and thrust out his arm as if he would make it reach much further if he could. At this Barak looked deeply disappointed. Several times, to show that she meant London, or at least England, she pointed to the floor at her feet and looked inquiringly at Van Torp, but he shook his head and pointed to the west again, and made a gesture that meant crossing something. He spoke to her as if she could understand.

"I've got your meaning," he said. "You're after the big man with the yellow beard, who is selling rubies from the same place, and has very likely come off with yours. He looked like a bad egg in spite of his handsome face."

He turned his eyes thoughtfully to the window. Barak plucked gently at his sleeve and pretended to write in the palm of her left hand, and then went through all the descriptive gestures again, and then once more pretended to write, and coaxingly pushed her towards a little table on which she saw writing materials.

"You'd like to have his address, wouldn't you, Miss Barak? I wonder why you don't call in your interpreter and tell me so. It would be much simpler than all this dumb crambo."

Once more he made a step towards the door, but she caught at his sleeve and entreated him in her own language not to call any one; and her voice was so deliciously soft and low, and she yielded, and sat down at the small table and wrote out an address from memory. He handed her the half-sheet of paper when he had dried the writing and had looked over it carefully.

"Poor little thing!" he said in a tone of pity. "If you ever find him he'll eat you."

Barak again showed signs of great emotion when she put the address into an inside pocket of her man's coat, but it was not of the same kind as before. She took Van Torp's big hand in both her own, and, bending down, she laid it on her head, meaning that he might dispose of her life over afterwards. But he did not understand.

"You want my blessing, do you, Miss Barak? Some people don't think Brassy Van Torp's blessing worth much, young lady, but you're welcome to it, such as it is."

He patted her thick hair and smiled as she looked up, and her eyes were dewy with tears.

"That's all right, my dear," he said. "Don't cry!"

She smiled, too, because his tone was kind, and, standing up, she took out her little leather bag again quickly, emptied the twists of paper into her hand, selected one by touch, and slipped the red back. She unwrapped a large stone and held it up to the light, turning it a little as she did so. Van Torp watched her with curiosity, and with an amused suspicion that she had perhaps played the whole scene in order to mollify him and induce him to buy something. So many people had played much more elaborate tricks in the hope of getting money from him, and the stones might be imitations after all, in spite of Le-goth's pencilled line of recommendation.

But Barak's next action took Van Torp by surprise. To his amazement, she pressed the ruby lightly to her heart, then to her lips, and last of all to her forehead, and before he knew what she was doing she had placed it in his right hand and closed his fingers upon it. It was a thank-offering.

"Nonsense!" objected the millionaire, smiling, but holding out the stone to her. "It's very sweet of you, but you don't mean it, and I don't take presents like that. Why, it's worth a thousand pounds in Bond street any day!"

But she put her hands behind her back and shook her head, to show that she would not take it back. Then with her empty hand she again touched her heart, her lips and forehead, and turned towards the door.

"Here, stop!" said Mr. Van Torp, going after her. "I can't take this thing! See here, I say! Put it back into your pocket!"

She turned and met him, and made a gesture of protest and entreaty, as if earnestly begging him to keep the gem. He looked at her keenly, and he was a judge of humanity, and saw that she was hurt by his refusal. As a last resource, he took out his pocket-book and showed her a quantity of folded bank notes.

"Well," he said, "since you insist, Miss Barak, I'll buy the stone of you, but I'll be overwhelmingly staggered if I'll take it for nothing."

Barak's eyes suddenly flashed in a most surprising way, her lower lip quivered, and her cheek faintly changed color, as a drop of scarlet pomegranate juice will tinge a bowl of cream.

She made one step forwards, plucked the stone from his fingers, rather than took it, and with a quick, but girlishly awkward movement, threw it towards the window as hard as she could, stamping angrily with her little foot at the same moment. Mr. Van Torp was extremely disconcerted, as he sometimes was by the sudden actions of the box he did not understand. Fortunately the stone hit the wall instead of going out of the window.

"I'm really sorry, Miss Barak," he said in a tone of humble apology, and he went quickly and picked up the gem. "I hadn't quite understood, you see."

She watched him, and drew back instinctively towards the door, as if expecting that he would again try to give it back to her. But he shook his head now, bowed with all the grace he could affect, which was little, and by way of making her feel that he accepted the gift, he pressed it to his heart, as she had done, and to his lips, but not to his forehead, because he was afraid that might cause some new mistake, as he did not know what the gesture meant.

Barak's face changed instantly; she smiled, nodded, and waved her hand to him, to say that it was all right, and that she was quite satisfied. They also made a sort of salute that he thought very graceful indeed, as if she were taking something from near the floor and laying it on her forehead, and she laughed softly and was out of the room and had shut the door before he could call her back again.

He stood still in the middle of the room, looking at the gem in his hand with an expression of grave doubt.

TAFT WILL DECIDE THE CONTROVERSY

BALLINGER-PINCHOT QUARREL WILL BE SETTLED BY PRESIDENT THIS WEEK.

RESIGNATION NOT UNLIKELY

Forester Will Quit Job and Continue Fight as Private Citizen if Executive Action is in Favor of Cabinet Member.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Within the present week President Taft will decide the controversy between Secretary Ballinger and Forester Pinchot, and upon his decision probably hangs the question which of the two men will remain in the public service. It is predicted that Ballinger will not be the one to resign.

The president is expected to receive from Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the Interior, not later than today, the reports of Interior department officials who have passed on the Cunningham coal claims.

Mr. Ballinger left for Boston with four grips full of reports and will go to Beverly as soon as the president is ready to take up the controversy with him.

What Will Taft Do?

Much speculation is being done here as to what steps the president will take after he renders a decision. It is said that the indications are that the controversy over conservation between Mr. Ballinger and Mr. Pinchot will not be settled by removing either one from office, while a peculiar situation exists as to L. R. Glavis, chief of the Seattle division of the field force of the general land office, who originated the charges concerning the Cunningham claims.

Some of Mr. Pinchot's friends intimate that if President Taft should sustain the course the secretary has pursued with reference to the Cunningham cases, Mr. Pinchot will at once resign and continue the fight against Mr. Ballinger as a private citizen.

The prevailing view among officials is that either Ballinger or Pinchot must go. The case, it is asserted, is one which President Taft cannot smooth over. "We have a lot of ammunition which we have not used," said one of the Pinchot partisans. "If the president should stand by his secretary of the Interior we would, of course, give this information to the public."

Would Lose the Result.

Glavis has investigated the legality of all the Alaska coal claims at a cost to the government of several thousand dollars. These claims are set for hearing at the Interior department next month. If the president finds Glavis' charges unfounded the general procedure would be to relieve him of his office. This cannot be done, say department officials, without losing to the government all Glavis accomplished on the line of his duty for several years. This situation is worrying Interior department officials.

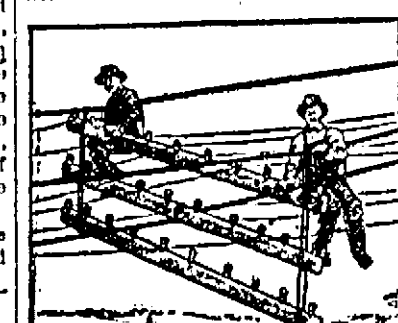

It is reported from Beverly that President Taft has not entertained the same cordiality toward Mr. Pinchot since Mr. Pinchot changed positions on the necessity of a tariff on lumber.

It is said by friends of the president that if Mr. Pinchot had refrained from taking any position Mr. Taft would have succeeded in forcing lumber on the free list in the Payne bill—a move of large political importance in the northwest, at least. Mr. Pinchot's friends say he never declared for free lumber.

WIRES STRUNG HIGH IN AIR.

Telephone Cables Suspended 700 Feet Across Valley to Avoid Flood Waters.

It is sometimes difficult to string wires to telephone poles in the valleys of some of the rivers of California because the water carries them away during the flood season, says Popular Mechanics. This illustration shows the plan adopted to suspend the wires across 700 feet of a river valley near Suspended Across 700 Feet of Space.

FRANCO. The ordinary telephone-pole crossbars are made fast to heavy cables, and these bars carry the wires, as under ordinary circumstances. Three sets of crossbars are attached to the suspension cables in the 700-foot space.

The Scientist's Guess.

According to a scientist not hitherto especially noted of fame, in volcanic fire is the origin of life. Of course no layman baldly disputes this allegation or any other from similar source, but so far as ordinary senses grasp the subject, volcanic fire would seem better adapted to producing death.

UNITARIANS HOLD CONFERENCE

Many of Church's Members Attend National Meeting in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—The national conference of Unitarians opened here today with a large attendance representative of the entire country. After devotional services Vice-President George E. Adams of Chicago made the opening address and routine business was disposed of. Talks followed by the secretary of the American Unitarian association, Rev. Lewis G. Wilson, Boston, Mass.; the president of the National Alliance of Unitarian Women, Miss Emma C. Low, New York; the president of the National Young People's Religious union, Rev. Henry Hallam Sanderson, Cambridge, Mass.; the president of the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice, Rev. John Haynes Holmes, New York; the president of the Unitarian Temperance society, Rev. Joseph H. Crooker, D. D., Roslindale, Mass.; the president of the Unitarian Laymen's League, Prof. William H. Carruth, Lawrence, Kan.; the president of the International Council of Religious Liberals, Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, D. D., Boston, and Dr. Emil G. Hirsch of Sinai Congregation, Chicago.

This afternoon meeting of the National Young People's Religious union, and the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice were followed by a reception to the National conference by the National Alliance in the Art Institute. The evening will be given up to the Sunday School society.

The sessions of the conference will continue through to-morrow and Thursday, with interesting programs.

"I'M POOR," SAYS UNCLE JOE.

Must Hold Job at Washington, Declares the Speaker.

New York, Sept. 7.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, speaker of the house, who has arrived here, "purely on private business, my son," will return to Danville, Ill., to mind his fences.

"You see," said Mr. Cannon, confidentially, "I've been in congress so long that it behooves me between sessions to look after my fences a bit, so that I may not starve. I'm a poor man, although somebody has said somewhere or other that I'm a millionaire. All bosh, you know."

"What do you think of the tariff revision by the last congress, Mr. Cannon?"

"I think it's ancient history now," laughed the speaker. "But," he continued, "it is the best thing done by congress in 50 years."

To Continue Irrigation Tour.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 7.—The irrigation committee of the United States senate has planned an extensive tour of irrigation projects over the western states to begin October 1. The committee will complete its work and return to Chicago on November 20.

Canadian Soldiers in Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 7.—For the first time since the Spanish-American war 200 armed men from the Fifth Canadian artillery have arrived in Seattle to take part in the celebration at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition today.

Mall Clerks Ask Shorter Hours.

St. Louis, Sept. 7.—The fourth annual convention of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks began here. How to obtain a 48-hour week of work will be discussed.

Deaths from Plague at Amoy.

Amoy, China, Sept. 7.—During the fortnight ended last Saturday there were 94 bubonic and 35 cholera deaths in the city of Amoy, according to an official announcement.

White Horse of Kilburn.

The biggest artificial horse in the world is the famous White Horse of Kilburn, near Thirsk, which was formed by a native of Kilburn 60 years ago, who cut away the turf in the correct form and then covered it with limestone—the whole occupying some two acres of the side of the hill. The figure makes a conspicuous landmark for over 20 miles round.

Good Rules to Observe.

"When in haste, go slow; when excited, keep cool," are two fundamental rules by which most women who so frequently have occasion to be "on edge" and "all upset" can spare their nerves and indirectly their pocket-books, impulsively letting their nerves and emotions give way before you have time to think is a habit that can only be controlled by a call on reason and common sense.

Graves of the Wicked.

Where is the man who has not wandered now and then through the graveyards of the world and wondered where the wicked folks are buried? If one believes all the tombstones say one inevitably inclines to think there never were many. If any, very, very wicked folks on earth.

Headache?

Want to know the quickest and best way to stop it? Take Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills.

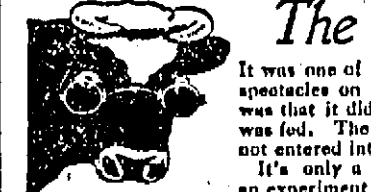

They are the best because they do not leave any disagreeable after-effects. Just simply quiet the nerve irritation which causes the distress. What is equally important they do not derange the stomach—only a pleasurable sense of relief follows their use.

"I am in fairly good health, but subject to frequent heavy, cloudy head, and occasionally dull pain. I get relief with one or two of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They are very beneficial to me and I do not like to be without them." D. P. LEWIS, Cleveland, O.

The first package will benefit if not, your druggist will return your money.

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shaving. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak," the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."
